Tammy Baldwin surprises Community Baptist Church member

U.S. Senator Tammy Baldwin (D-WI) made a surprise visit to Community Baptist Church of Greater Milwaukee, 2249 N. Sherman Blvd., on Sunday, August 4, 2024 to express her appreciation to church member Herbert Renfro for appearing in her campaign advertisements. The company where Renfro, a recent retired, and had bee employed for many years, suddenly and without cause or warning canceled retirement benefits including pensions, including Renfros'. Senator Baldwin contacted the company and had the benefits restored. Pictured are (left photo, from left) Community Baptist Church of Greater Milwaukee pastor Rev. Dr. Demetrius Williams, Senator Tammy Baldwin, Community Baptist Church First Lady Robin Williams, Herbert Renfro; and (right photo, right) Herberts' wife Betty Renfro.

Milwaukee Community Journal celebrates 48th anniversary

On Sunday, August 4, 2024, the Milwaukee Community Journal (MCJ), Milwaukee's oldest African American community publication, celebrated its 48th anniversary with a brunch at the Italian Community Center, Inc., 631 E Chicago St. The theme for this year was "Health & Wellness: Links to Success" and featured TV news anchor, author and health advocate Vivian King as the keynote speaker (bottom right photo). During this year's anniversary celebration, MCJ honored more than 20 individuals who have strived to make this community a healthier and better place. Those honorees (top, right photo) were Brenda Brown, Great Midwest Bank; Dr. Camelia Clarke and Marcel Clarke, Paradise Memorial Funeral Home; Tanisha Collins-Johnson, Anthem Blue Cross Blue Shield; Alisa Crawley, Kids in the Kitchen; Stephanie Findley, Ph.D., Findley Medical Clinic; Nichole Gladney, Ascension; Raynetta Hill, King Drive BID, Deatra (Dee) Kemp, ACTS Housing; Jim Milner, Sector Management/ Consulting; Terrence Moore, AARP Wisconsin; Debra Nevels, Medical College of Wisconsin; June Perry-Stevens and Krystle Rogers, Best Ed Business; Troy and Dr. Felicia Robertson, Northwest Funeral Chapel; Ericka Sinclair, Health Connections; photographer Bill Tennessen; Sergeant Gregory Thompson; Gregory Wesley, JD, Medical College of Wisconsin; Carol L. Williams, Ph.D., Medical College of Wisconsin; Yasica Spears Wince and Maurice (Moe) Wince, Sherman Park Grocery; and Dorothy York, ACTS Housing.

There were also eleven local high school students (bottom center photo) who received the Dr. Terrence Thomas Memorial Scholarship from MCJ. Over the years the scholarship fund has given more than $1-million to brilliant local students.

After the brunch program a procession of honorees, students and guests marched to 6th street, where attendees celebrated the renaming of 6th street to Patricia O'Flynn Pattillo Street (bottom left photos). The renaming honors the MCJ publisher, who also was the first female president of the National Newspaper Publishers Association (elected in 1987).

Founded in 1976, the MCJ is the Wisconsin's oldest African American community newspaper.

Who is Tim Walz, the Minnesota governor Kamala Harris picked to be V.P.?

Walz captured Democrats' attention with his "weird" takedown of Republicans. Here's a look at the new vice-presidential candidate.

A couple of weeks ago, few Democrats could have identified Gov. Tim Walz of Minnesota.

But in a matter of weeks, Walz has garnered an enthusiastic following in his party, particularly among the liberals who cheer on his progressive policies and relish his plain-spoken attacks on former President Donald J. Trump.

That support helped him become Vice President Kamala Harris's running mate. Here's a closer look at Walz.

How old is he and where is he from?

Walz is 60 years old. He grew up in rural Nebraska and earned a social science degree from Chadron State College in Nebraska. Walz also served 24 years in the Army National Guard and was a command sergeant major.

Walz met his wife, Gwen, while the two were teachers.

Web Photo

They have two children.

Where did he get his start in politics?

Walz had been teaching high school social studies when he decided to run for office. In 2006 he knocked off a Republican incumbent, a rare feat, in Minnesota's First District, a rural area that leans Republican.

Walz spent six terms in the U.S. House before he was elected governor in 2018. He won by more than 11 percentage points, propelled by voters in the cities and the Minneapolis suburbs. He ran again and won in 2022.

What are his top issues?

The political landscape has become more favorable for Walz during his second term as governor. Democrats flipped the State Senate, giving them control of both chambers of the State Legislature.

Walz has helped Democrats check off progressive policies from their wish list, enshrining the right to abortion in state law, legalizing recreational marijuana, setting paid medical and family leave requirements for employees and expanding background checks for gun purchases.

Walz, a hunter, used to be supported by the National Rifle Association (NRA). But he renounced the group after the mass shooting in Parkland, FL. He has said he was influenced by his daughter's pleas to do something to curb gun violence.

What is he known for?

Walz received some national attention after passing his ambitious Democratic agenda. But he didn't become a cable news fixture or the subject of memes until recently.

During Trump's most recent visits to Minnesota, a state last carried by a Republican presidential candidate in 1972, Walz was asked to deliver pre-emptive counterattacks. His catchphrase about the former president and his running mate, Senator J.D. Vance of Ohio — "These guys are just weird" — ricocheted online and through the party, becoming a kind of unofficial campaign slogan.

In Republican circles, Walz is associated with the riots that erupted in Minneapolis after a police officer murdered George Floyd. Republicans have slammed Walz over his handling of the arson and the looting that followed; a five-mile stretch of Minneapolis sustained heavy damage, and a police precinct was set on fire. The governor deployed hundreds of National Guard troops three days after Floyd's murder, but his critics have argued that he was slow to respond.

Trump has tried to take credit for quelling the violence there.

"I saved your city," Trump said during a fundraiser in May for the Minnesota Republicans in St. Paul, adding, "If you didn't have me as president, you wouldn't have Minneapolis today."

Ballot drop boxes reopen in Milwaukee, other suburbs

Absentee boxes were banned for several years before recent court ruling

Shut down for years by a state Supreme Court ruling, absentee ballot drop boxes are reappearing in Wisconsin this week, given a new lease on life.

"The Milwaukee Election Commission has been working diligently to get our drop boxes back in operation," said Milwaukee Election Commission Executive Director Paulina Gutierrez Monday, August 5, 2024.

A recent ruling overturned the ban on the boxes, which the city of Milwaukee insists are a safe, secure way to drop off absentee ballots.

"All of our drop boxes are under 24-hour video surveillance, they're specially manufactured for ballots, so they're very secure, made out of durable heavy-duty steel," Gutierrez said. "We have been meeting with law enforcement and we are prepared to deal with issues and can immediately access those cameras if we need to."

One important change, the ballots must be in the box by 6 p.m. on Election Day, to give the pick-up teams plenty of time to get the ballots to the counting locations by 8 p.m., when polls close.

About a dozen Milwaukee County suburbs will also have absentee ballot drop boxes in place.

Ballot drop boxes in Milwaukee County

- Brown Deer
- Whitefish Bay
- Shorewood
- Wauwatosa
- Milwaukee
- West Allis
- West Milwaukee
- Cudahy
- Greendale
- South Milwaukee
- Franklin
- Oak Creek

And in Milwaukee, the ballot pick-up has already begun.

"Now with drop boxes we've hired ballot collection teams," Gutierrez said. "We have about 23 people that have been trained and are ready to go, and will be doing so starting Monday, August 5, 2024 picking up those ballots from our drop boxes."

Ballot drop boxes are permitted statewide, but it's up to each community whether to have them or not.

Absentee voting is underway for the Aug. 13 primary election.

Being Frank

By: Frank James
Special to the Milwaukee Times

Grab yourself some good

There is a bombardment of negativity that is making life in the USA a challenging task for the citizens of the country. Negativity is thrust upon US citizens when they turn on the TV, log onto the internet, or go to social media platforms. Negativity is even force-fed upon the US populace when they watch sports. In the near future, US citizens need to grab onto something good if they want to keep their sanity.

The news media is one of the key components in instilling negative vibes in people. The negativity that can saturate one's mind from watching one newscast is appalling. The news media has gone from telling facts and reliability, to flash and yellow journalism. The sensation factor of television news has made it a perverse form of The Jerry Springer Show. The more appalling the story, the more likely the TV news will use it as a lead off. This scare tactic is one that increased viewership which means increases revenue for TV stations.

Most people in the USA are scared of something. Once again the news media is a major force in driving fear down people's throats. The news uses negative stories to lure viewers in. The media then plants fear of whatever the story is about inside the viewer's head. It doesn't matter that the event may have taken place 500 miles from their location. The fear that what took place may happen in their zip code drives the viewers to become frightened rabbits.

Paranoia is another offshoot from the negativity that US citizens face on a daily basis. Look at the number of guns that are sold in the USA. You have people carrying guns who don't understand how to use a pencil, much less an AR-15. Why are these people carrying weapons? Negative bombardment they receive via the media has many US citizens fearful that they are going to be the next victim of some heinous crime. Yet, can you blame US citizens when all aspects of media are hitting them with stories of crimes from all points of the country? Is it really Granny's fault that she is packing a .38 snub nose in her purse at church? Granny heard a news story, or read a post on the internet, about a murder that took place in Florida. Granny is scared that something similar may happen to her in her home town of Sioux Falls, South Dakota. Can you see how this negative information can create the situations that may lead to unpleasant results?

In the US sports is the gladiatorial venue designed to occupy the average citizen's mind. Citizens of the USA are treated to a healthy dose of negativity when watching sports. The talking heads are often extremely critical of the players in the sport. Everyone in the booth or on the pre-game broadcast has their take on the upcoming game. Often these views are critical of players, coaches and management. The fun and frivolousness of sports becomes a hotly debated topic that often turns negative. How many arguments over sports have you observed? How many times have you heard people degrade an athlete they have never met, much less know? Exactly.

Yes, there are crimes and atrocities being committed in the USA. There is misery in the USA. There are also good things taking place in the USA. In order for the citizens of the USA to keep their sanity, they must find something good in their lives. It can be something as small as savoring the taste of Doritos during lunch. US citizens should take at least 15 minutes of every waking hour to think about something they find good. Grab this good and hold onto it and don't let any form of media take it away.

900-plus GE HealthCare volunteers refreshed seven MPS schools

More than 900 volunteers from GE HealthCare visited several Milwaukee Public Schools (MPS) on Thursday, on August 1, 2024, to give the buildings and grounds a back-to-school glow-up during their annual Community Service Day.

This is the 28th year that GE HealthCare workers and their family and friends have helped get MPS schools ready for returning students. Different schools are chosen every year, and the volunteers' planning begins more than a year in advance. The GE HealthCare team consults with each school to identify projects for the volunteers to complete.

The volunteers worked at seven schools on Thursday. The schools are:

Whittier School, 4382 S. 3rd St.

Bay View Montessori Upper Campus, 619 E. Dover St.

Morgandale School, 3635 S. 17th St.

Frederick J. Gaenslen School, 1250 E. Burleigh St.

Louisa May Alcott School, 3563 S. 97th St.

Milwaukee School of Languages, 8400 W. Burleigh St.

Lancaster School, 4931 N. 68th St.

Volunteers painted murals, walls, and playground lines. They weeded the grounds, spread mulch, and planted, and at some schools, they assembled and updated furniture and shelving and added accessories. Volunteers assembled new picnic tables at Bay View Montessori Upper Campus.

"Community Service Day showcases GE HealthCare at its best," said Luiz Verzegnassi, President and CEO, GE HealthCare Services. "Our colleagues' passion and hard work is not only reflected in the welcoming learning environments we contribute to, but also in the smiles and appreciation from those we serve. It's a powerful reminder of our commitment to our purpose, creating lasting impact and strengthening our bond with the City of Milwaukee."

MPS students will see the changes when they begin classes next month for the 2024-25 school year. The first day of school will be Tuesday, September 3, 2024.

"Milwaukee Public Schools is thankful to GE HealthCare and its volunteers for making a difference in the lives of our students through the annual Community Service Day," MPS Interim Superintendent Eduardo Galvan said. "We value our long partnership with GE HealthCare. The work of the volunteers will have a positive impact on our students for years to come."

Are you falling for these common nutrition myths?

Food misinformation is an escalating issue in the United States, deeply impacting dietary habits and public health. The Ajinomoto Group, the pioneering manufacturer of MSG, has faced misinformation for decades, particularly with the baseless term "Chinese Restaurant Syndrome" (CRS). To tackle this issue, the Ajinomoto Group partnered with YouGov to release the first-ever Food Infodemic Report. This nationwide survey sheds light on the complicated state of eating in the U.S. and the pervasive uncertainty about proper nutrition. BlackDoctor.org spoke to Charlotte Martin, MS, RDN, a DC-based registered dietitian dedicated to evidence-based nutrition and author of "The Plant-Forward Solution" to discuss the key findings and what you need to know about making informed food choices.

The growing complexity of food choices

The Food Infodemic Report reveals that 43 percent of respondents have never felt more uncertain about their food choices, and 55 percent are unsure whom to trust for proper nutrition advice. This confusion has led to the widespread adoption of unscientific eating habits.

"That was a great finding from the report, and it really underscores a significant issue. Too many people are unsure of who to trust when it comes to nutrition," Martin said.

Alarmingly, 71 percent of respondents admit to adopting food beliefs and behaviors that are not grounded in science. Examples include the myth that cheese causes nightmares, which 14 percent of respondents believe.

"Food and nutrition misinformation is definitely a significant issue today. I would say probably the most common nutrition myths I frequently encounter are the demonization of certain food groups. For example, many people believe that all carbs are bad, which is simply not true. Another prevalent myth involves MSG. There's a widespread belief that MSG is harmful and should be avoided at all costs, but extensive research has shown that it's safe for most people when consumed in normal amounts," Martin shared.

"Another myth I've been hearing a lot lately surrounds seed and vegetable oils, with some claims suggesting that they're highly toxic. But again, when used in moderation as part of a balanced diet, these oils can definitely be healthy choices. Usually, my answer to most claims about specific foods or food groups is that everything can be part of a balanced diet. Trusting health authorities and following evidence-based nutrition guidance from credible nutrition professionals is really the key to making smart dietary choices," Martin added.

The influence of social media

The report also highlights the impact of social media on spreading misinformation. While 55 percent of people acknowledge falling victim to food misinformation, they are more likely to put garlic up their nose (30 percent) than verify if a social influencer is qualified.

"The report also showed that only 25 percent of respondents regularly check to make sure an influencer is qualified before listening to their food advice, which is really unfortunate," Martin noted.

To navigate this, there are several steps you can take to identify reliable sources of nutrition information.

"First and foremost, look for credentials. Trustworthy nutrition information typically comes from professionals who are registered dietitians or have similar accredited qualifications, like a PhD in nutrition. Dietitians are the experts trained to provide evidence-based nutrition advice. Second, track the source of the information. Reputable sources include government health departments, well-known health organizations like the American Heart Association, and academic institutions. Be wary of information from sources with a commercial interest in selling something like a supplement," she advised.

On the other hand, Martin notes the power social media has to combat misinformation by providing a platform to spread accurate, evidence-based nutrition information and foster positive discussions around food.

"Trust dietitians—many of us use social media to help debunk myths and provide reliable advice," she advised. "This is important because much of the nutritional advice found on social media is rooted in fear rather than facts. Lastly, we have a responsibility to share information responsibly. I encourage consumers to avoid sharing sensationalized content that could contribute to the spread of misinformation."

Impact on communities of color

Food misinformation also disproportionately affects communities of color. The report found that 54 percent of respondents from these communities have seen misinformation attacking beloved foods from their culture, nearly twice as likely as white respondents.

Nearly half of the respondents from Asian, Black, and Hispanic communities have experienced or witnessed ridicule because of their cultural foods.

"It can be particularly challenging for individuals from communities of color. One effective strategy is to educate yourself and others about the nutritional value and cultural significance of traditional foods. Sharing accurate information within your community or on social media can help dispel myths and promote a better understanding of your traditional cuisine's benefits," Martin suggested.

Practical steps for healthier eating

Unscientific eating habits can pose significant health risks, leading to both short-term and long-term health issues.

"First, nutrient deficiencies can occur. Many fad diets eliminate entire food groups, resulting in a lack of essential nutrients. For example, trying to cut out carbs entirely can lead to insufficient intake of fiber, vitamins, and minerals, negatively impacting digestive health and overall well-being," Martin noted. "There's also a mental aspect—disordered eating patterns can develop from unscientific food beliefs, leading to behaviors like chronic dieting, binge eating, and orthorexia, which have severe mental and physical health consequences."

There's also an increased risk of chronic disease.

"Misinformation promoting high consumption of certain foods, like those high in saturated fat, can increase the risk of developing chronic conditions like heart disease. Additionally, many unscientific diets are not sustainable in the long run, leading to yo-yo dieting and weight cycling, which can have harmful effects on overall health," Martin added.

To combat this, Martin offered the following suggestions:

- Focus on whole foods – Focus on whole, minimally processed foods such as fruits, vegetables, whole grains, lean proteins, and healthy fats. These should form the foundation of a balanced diet.
- Understand nutrition labels – Learning to read and understand nutrition labels helps make informed choices and avoid being misled by marketing claims.
- Moderation, not deprivation – Practice moderation rather than deprivation. It's important to enjoy favorite foods occasionally rather than eliminating them entirely.
- Plan and prepare meals – Planning and preparing meals at home allows greater control over what you eat and helps maintain healthy eating habits.

2024 Olympics had the first-ever gymnastics podium composed entirely of black female medalist

Simone Biles, Jordan Chiles and Rebeca Andrade made Olympic history at the 2024 Summer Games as the first all-black gymnastics podium finishers.

Andrade, 25, won gold in the floor final on Monday, August 5, 2024 at the Bercy Arena in Paris, with 27-year-old Biles earning silver and Chiles, 23, taking home the bronze.

Monday's medals marked the first time in Olympic history that a gymnastics podium has been entirely made up of black athletes. After the historic moment, the gymnasts told reporters, including *PEOPLE (magazine),* what it meant to them.

“We can show the Black Power," Andrade said after the final. “I love myself, my skin color. But I’m also not focused on that. Rebeca goes beyond her color," the gymnast said, speaking in third person.

"And the same goes for Jordan, for Simone. The idea is it serves as an incentive," Andrade continued, explaining that while "sometimes it may be more difficult" for gymnasts because of their "skin color," the trio has proven that "it's possible" and "you can do it."

During the medal ceremony, Biles and Chiles of the United States took a moment to bow to Andrade for winning the gold.

"She's so amazing, she's queen," Biles said of the Brazilian gold medalist. "And first, it was an all-Black podium, so that was super exciting for us."

Biles revealed that it was Chiles who suggested bowing to Andrade during the historic moment on the podium. "And I was like, absolutely," Biles continued.

"So we're like, are we gonna do it now? And then that's why we did it." Biles added that Andrade is "such an excitement to watch" and Team USA has noticed "all the fans in the crowd always cheering for her."

Chiles told reporters that she and her USA teammate wanted to give Andrade "her flowers" during the medal ceremony.

"Not only has she given Simone her flowers, but a lot of us in the United States our flowers as well, so giving it back is what makes it so beautiful, so I felt like it was needed," Chiles added, calling Andrade "an icon" and a "legend."

On July 30, 2024 Biles became the most-decorated U.S. gymnast in Olympic history.

But Biles told reporters during an earlier press conference this Games that she does not "keep count."

"I just go out here and do what I'm supposed to and I'm doing what I love and enjoying it, so that's really all that matters to me," she said.

After Monday's floor final, Biles said she's "accomplished way more" than her "wildest dreams" in the sport. "I can't be mad at my performances. A couple of years ago I didn't think I'd be back here at an Olympic game," she added.

Notice of Partisan Primary and Sample Ballot August 13, 2024

OFFICE OF THE MILWAUKEE COUNTY ELECTION COMMISSION

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF MILWAUKEE:

Notice is hereby given of a partisan primary election to be held in the City of Milwaukee on August 13, 2024, at which the nominees for the offices named below shall be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office under the appropriate party, each in its proper column, together with the questions submitted to a vote, if any, in the sample ballot below.

Information to Voters

Upon entering the polling place and before being permitted to vote, a voter shall:

- state their name and address
- show an acceptable form of photo identification*
- sign the poll book

If a voter does not have acceptable photo identification, the voter may obtain a free photo ID for voting from the Division of Motor Vehicles.

*If the voter is unable to sign the poll book due to disability, a poll worker may write the word "exempt."

If a voter is not registered to vote, they may register to vote at the polling place serving their residence if the voter provides proof of residence.

Where ballots are distributed to voters, the initials of two inspectors must appear on the ballot.

Upon being permitted to vote, the voter shall enter a voting booth or go to a machine and cast their ballot. The vote should not be cast in any manner other than specified here. Sample ballots or other materials to assist the voter in marking their ballot may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked.

A voter who is a parent or guardian may be accompanied by the voter's minor child or minor ward.

An election official may inform the voter of the proper manner for casting a vote but the official may not advise or indicate a particular voting choice.

Assistance for Voting

A voter may select an individual to assist in casting their vote if the voter declares to the presiding official that they are unable to read, have difficulty reading, writing, or understanding English, or that due to disability are unable to cast their ballot. The selected individual rendering assistance may not be the voter's employer or an agent of that employer or an officer or agent of a labor organization which represents the voter. If a voter is unable to state their name and address, an assistant may also do so for the voter.

At the partisan primary, the voter shall select the party of their choice. Voting for candidates of more than one party may invalidate the ballot. The voter must cast a vote for individual candidates.

Where Optical Scan Voting is Used

- If a party preference is designated, and votes are cast for ballot candidates of another party or write-in votes are cast in another party, only votes cast in the designated party will count.

- If a party preference is not designated, and votes are cast for candidates (or write-in votes are cast) in more than one party, no votes will be counted.

Within the party of their choice, the voter shall fill in the oval next to the name of the candidate of their choice for each office for which they intend to vote. To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the voter shall write in the name of the person of their choice in the space provided for a write-in vote and fill in the oval next to the write-in line. On referendum questions, the voter shall fill in the oval next to "yes" if in favor of the question, or the voter shall fill in the oval next to "no" if opposed to the question.

When using an electronic ballot marking device ("ExpressVote") to mark an optical scan ballot, the voter shall touch the screen or use the tactile pad to select the party of their choice. The voter shall then touch the screen at the name of the candidate of their choice for each office for which they intend to vote. To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the voter shall type in the name of the person of their choice in the space provided for a write-in vote. On referendum questions, the voter shall touch the screen at "yes" if in favor of the question, or the voter shall touch the screen at "no" if opposed to the question.

Spoiled Ballots

If a voter spoils an optical scan ballot, they shall return it to an election official who shall issue another ballot in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one voter. If the ballot has not been initialed by two inspectors or is defective in any other way, the voter shall return it to the election official, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place.

After Voting the Ballot

After an official optical scan ballot is marked, it may be inserted in the security sleeve, so the marks do not show. The voter shall then insert the ballot in the voting device and discard the sleeve or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit. If a central count system is used, the voter shall insert the ballot in the ballot box and discard the sleeve or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit. The voter shall leave the polling place promptly.

A sample of the official ballot is included with this notice.
