George Foreman, legendary boxer, dies at 76

George Foreman, the legendary boxer and namesake of one of the most iconic cooking apparatuses of the last 30 years, passed away on Friday, March 21, 2025, at the age of 76.

A statement confirming the Texas legend's death was shared on his Instagram page. "Our hearts are broken. With profound sorrow, we announce the passing of our beloved George Edward Foreman, Sr., who peacefully departed on March 21, 2025 surrounded by loved ones," the statement read. "A devout preacher, a devoted husband, a loving father, and a proud -grand-and great grandfather, he lived a life marked by unwavering faith, humility, and purpose."

The statement highlighted his achievements in the boxing ring, which included winning the heavyweight title twice and an Olympic gold medal. It also acknowledged Foreman's humanitarian work and overall being, calling him a "deeply respected […] force for good, a man of discipline, conviction, and a protector of his legacy, fighting tirelessly to preserve his good name […] for his family." At this time, Foreman's cause of death is unknown.

George Foreman became a legend early on, winning a boxing gold medal at age 19 during the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City. Five years later, he knocked out Joe Frazier in the second round of their bout to win his first heavyweight championship. The following year, he engaged in one of the biggest fights of all-time against Muhammad Ali dubbed the "Rumble In The Jungle," though it ended with him taking a loss and handing over the title.

Foreman would retire four years later, but he wasn't done winning titles. In 1994, seven years after returning to the combat sport, he won back the heavyweight championship at 45 years old by defeating Michael Moorer; with this victory, he became the oldest boxer to hold the belt.

Big George's legacy will live on not just through the annals of boxing, but in kitchens all across the world. The George Foreman Lean Mean Grilling Machine, conceived in 1994, has sold more than 100 million units worldwide and become a pop culture staple.

Milwaukee postal workers protest Trump administration privatization proposal

USPS workers in Milwaukee protested against Trump administration plans to privatize USPS, citing risks to rural service and worker unions.

Postal workers across the United States gathered Sunday, March 23, 2025, to protest potential privatization plans for the United States Postal Service (USPS). In Milwaukee, dozens of workers assembled outside the post office at Plankinton and St. Paul streets.

The rally comes as the Trump administration considers transferring the USPS to the Department of Commerce, a move that could strip the service of its independence.

Critics argue the change could end guaranteed mail service to all American addresses, potentially leaving rural customers without deliveries.

William Schroeder, a USPS letter carrier, voiced concerns about the implications for workers. "As a postal union, we don't know if our union will be recognized if it goes private, and the workers without a union have no power," Schroeder said.

The USPS has historically operated as an independent federal agency since 1970, ensuring universal service. Opponents of privatization fear the move could prioritize profits over public service.

USPS currently employs about 640,000 workers tasked with making deliveries from inner cities to rural areas and even far-flung islands.

The service plans to cut 10,000 employees in the next weeks through a voluntary early retirement program, according to the letter. The USPS announced the plan during the final days of the Biden administration in January but, at the time, didn't include the number of workers expected to leave.

Elon Musk's Department of Government Efficiency (DOGE) will assist USPS with addressing "big problems" at the $78-billion per year agency, which has sometimes struggled in recent years to stay afloat.

The agreement also includes the General Services Administration to help the Postal Service identify and achieve "further efficiencies."

City alderwoman fights back against Milwaukee tire dumping epidemic

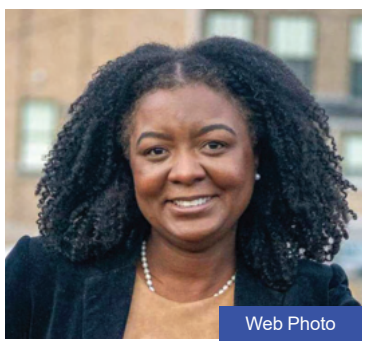

A mountain of illegally dumped waste tires at N. Teutonia Avenue and W. Mill Road is perhaps the most egregious example of a growing problem in Milwaukee.

WISN 12 News last week obtained body cam video of DNR wardens catching a Milwaukee man in the act there in January.

"It's an issue. It'll continue to be an ongoing issue until we do something about it," said Alderwoman Andrea Pratt, who represents the district where those tires were dumped.

She told WISN 12 News Monday, March 17, 2025, she was frustrated to watch the story and see that the man in the video was released with just five littering tickets totaling less than $4,000.

"I'm looking into creating legislation to increase the ordinance fine, the fine for dumping tires, or illegally dumping. I thought it was a travesty that the fine was $3,800 for the man who'd dumped thousands of tires.

Web Photo

There should be a stiffer penalty for that. I'm also looking at charging per tire when you're dumping," she said.

Pratt has been at the forefront of the tire dumping issue, calling attention to other dumps, including two large ones at the Cousins Subs at N. Hopkins Street and W. Villard Avenue.

"The only response shouldn't be when it's on air," Pratt said Thursday, March 20, 2025, at a Public Works (DPW) Committee meeting.

She admitted to growing frustrated at the meeting, explaining tires blocked an alley in her district for four days after it was first reported to Department of Public Works.

Pratt said when she tried to escalate the issue to DPW management, she was told to enter it in the city's reporting system and not to email the DPW's operations director.

"It's public property. I've had hundreds of tires dumped throughout my district on city property, it's taking two, three, four weeks for us to get out there and pick it up," Pratt said at the city hall meeting. "People who live in these neighborhoods should not have to see all these tires, all this dumping consistently. I'm very frustrated and upset that she would respond and say I should not be emailing her."

Pratt said the illegal dumping is also doing a disservice to the legitimately licensed waste tire haulers.

She believes if the city turns a blind eye, it will continue to get worse.

"It's a lot more prevalent now, and people are a lot more bold in doing it," Pratt said.

Being Frank

By: Frank James
Special to the Milwaukee Times

Escape the cell

Many people in the world today are living in a prison and do not know it. The prison is one they choose to reside in. These people who reside in this prison go into their cell happily without complaint. The prison is one for the mind and the cell is a cellular one.

The cellular phone has evolved from a brick in your hand to a high-powered computer that fits in your pocket. The name has transformed from cellular phone to 'smart phone'. The technology has increased to the point where you no longer need to think; the artificial intelligence (AI), does it for you. The phone has become smarter, but has the user become more intelligent?

Having access to all the information in the world is a great thing. The internet can get you needed information quickly. Smart phones have access to the internet, and thus, unlimited information. The cell that is imprisoning many people's mind has evolved with the creation of apps. The apps on the smart phone are the lock on the door that are keeping many minds in a cellular prison.

Go into any public place and look around. More than likely, people are sitting down and looking at their phones. This is true no matter what type of setting you are in. You see people who are supposedly out on a date sitting across from the date on the phone if you walk into a restaurant. You see people so busy trying to 'FaceTime' with others at sporting events, until they miss the live action. You see parents handing their toddlers smart phones to keep them occupied instead of parenting them. The wonderful device which was supposed to free humanity has become a prison for many human minds.

The effect the smart phone, has on education is devastating. The smart phone is a major presence in the average school. Most school districts have rules pertaining to cell phone usage by students and staff. Sadly, these rules are not enforced because many staff members keep their smart phones in their hand. Many teachers and school staff feel that it is easier to text another teacher about an issue. Also, staff have to keep up with the latest news or stories on their social media feeds.

Smart phones have added AI to their repertoire. The impact AI has had on student knowledge is one that the USA is beginning to realize. Some students will use AI when they have to write essays and research papers. The AI can create an essay that would have Shakespeare shaking his head in wonder. All a student has to do is apply their name to the work and they have completed the assignment. Many students understand that all the answers to any problem in all subjects are on the internet. A student can Google an answer to a question in less than three seconds. Internet access and use of AI, via smart phones, is creating a faction of students who have high grade averages. But, in reality, these student's knowledge is not at the level of the grades.

The smart phone manufacturers are not to blame. People around the world willingly lock their minds into the cell on a daily basis. Many people wake up and are on the smart phone before they get out of bed. Many people use earbuds and other accessories throughout the day to be connected to their smart phone. People have brackets on the dashboard in their cars so they can look at the smart phone while driving. Is Face Time that important?

"A prison for your mind," actor Lawrence Fishburne said this to Neo (Keanu Reeves) in, The Matrix. That is what the smart phone has become for many people. Don't get me wrong, the smart phone, AI and other cellular devices are great. The artificial reality they offer is often entertaining. However, are the apps, internet and social media offered on the cell phone better than real life? You have to answer that question for yourself.

On Saturday, February 22, 2025, at Pallas Restaurant, 1657 S. 108th St., West Allis, George Kendrick celebrated his 90th birthday with family and friends. Kendrick is one of 11 children, he was born in 1935, in the family's 100 year-old home in Jackson, TN. The house (still livable) is directly across the street from Lane College. After 94 years, the family passed it on to Lane College, a historically black college (HBCU). Kendrick relocated to Milwaukee, WI, worked at Sears & Roebuck and Milwaukee School Board of Directors (MPS), married, and had three children. Kendrick latter married a second time and became a successful entrepreneur.

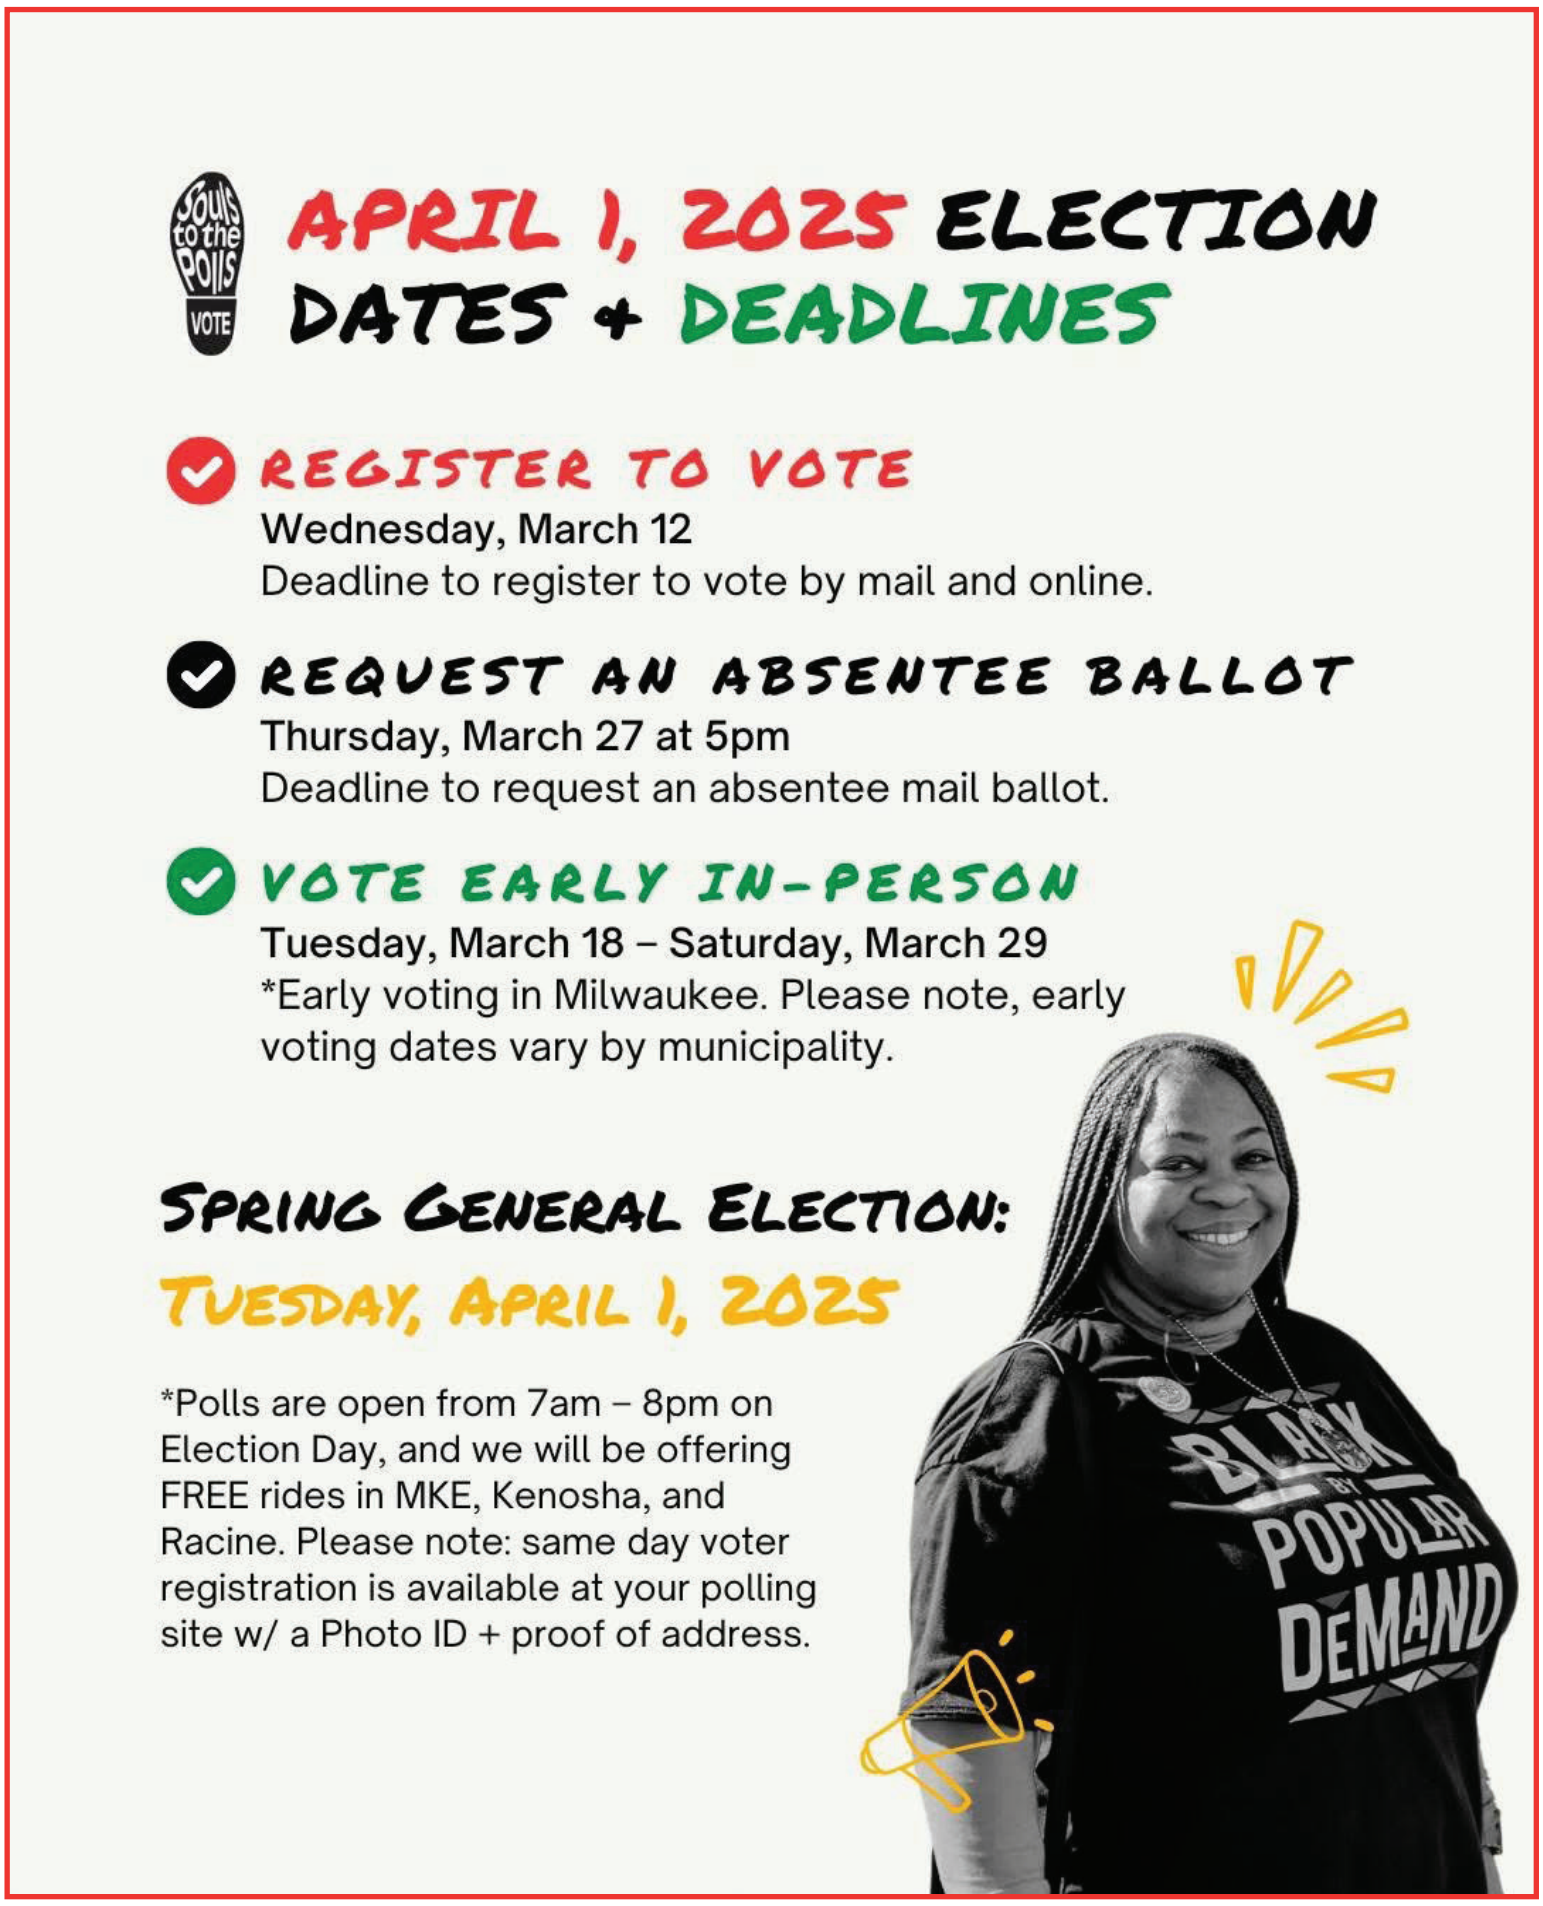

He had also traveled all over the world, from Alaska to Russia, including every continent except Antarctica.

Kendrick celebrated with his siblings from Florida and Illinois, his children and grandchildren from California and Ohio, and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, friends and associates.

Note: We unfortunately ran the wrong photos from the event, here is the correct photos. We are very sorry for the mix up.

Health department clears Golda Meir, Maryland Avenue schools; lead-screening clinic results are in Golda Meir Lower Campus and Maryland Avenue Montessori School both have passed their final Milwaukee Health Department (MHD) clearance checks, after thorough testing by the health department. Lead dust levels at the schools meet established safety standards, and no further remediation is required at this time, the health department reported.

To ensure continued safety at the schools, Milwaukee Public Schools (MPS) will maintain enhanced cleaning protocols.

The health department and MPS continue to take critical steps to assess and address lead hazards in school buildings. Together, they are developing a rolling inspection schedule to systematically assess schools across the district.

On Saturday, March 15, 2025, the health department and MPS, along with Children's Wisconsin and Sixteenth Street Community Health Centers, held a free lead-screening clinic at Bradley Tech High School. A total of 249 children were screened for lead exposure.

The health department cannot disclose specific data on cases below certain thresholds, in order to protect the privacy of children screened, but MHD confirmed that a very small number of children tested above the CDC's reference value of 3.5 micrograms of lead per deciliter of blood, and some of them do not attend MPS schools.

These cases were low enough that they did not require nursing case management from the health department.

At the clinic, 91 percent of children screened were from the originally affected schools – Golda Meir Lower Campus, Kagel, Maryland Avenue Montessori, Trowbridge, Starms Early Childhood Center, Fernwood, and LaFollette – and 94 percent of children screened attend MPS schools.

Families who were unable to attend the screening clinic are encouraged to take advantage of additional free pop-up clinics in the coming weeks. A full list of upcoming screening opportunities is available at www.milwaukee.gov/MPS-Lead and mpsmke.com/mpsleadreport.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF MILWAUKEE:

Notice is hereby given of a spring election and a special election to be held in City of Milwaukee on April 1, 2025, at which the officers named below shall be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office, each in its proper column, together with the questions submitted to a vote, for a referendum, if any, in the sample ballot below.

Information to Voters
Upon entering the polling place and before being permitted to vote, a voter shall:

- state their name and address
- show an acceptable form of photo identification*
- sign the poll book

If a voter does not have acceptable photo identification, the voter may obtain a free photo ID for voting from the Division of Motor Vehicles.

*If the voter is unable to sign the poll book due to disability, a poll worker may write the word "exempt."

If a voter is not registered to vote, they may register to vote at the polling place serving their residence if the voter provides proof of residence.

Where ballots are distributed to voters, the initials of two inspectors must appear on the ballot.

Upon being permitted to vote, the voter shall enter a voting booth or go to a machine and cast their ballot. The vote should not be cast in any manner other than specified here. Sample ballots or other materials to assist the voter in marking their ballot may be taken into the booth and copied. The sample ballot shall not be shown to anyone so as to reveal how the ballot is marked.

A voter who is a parent or guardian may be accompanied by the voter's minor child or minor ward.

An election official may inform the voter of the proper manner for casting a vote, but the official may not advise or indicate a particular voting choice.

Assistance for Voting
A voter may select an individual to assist in casting their vote if the voter declares to the presiding official that they are unable to read, have difficulty reading, writing, or understanding English, or that due to disability are unable to cast their ballot. The selected individual rendering assistance may not be the voter's employer or an agent of that employer or an officer or agent of a labor organization which represents the voter.

Where Optical Scan Voting is Used
The voter shall fill in the oval next to the name of the candidate of their choice for each office for which they intend to vote. To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the voter shall write in the name of the person of their choice in the space provided for a write-in vote and fill in the oval next to the write-in line. On referendum questions, the voter shall fill in the oval next to "yes" if in favor of the question, or the voter shall fill in the oval next to "no" if opposed to the question.

When using an electronic ballot marking device ("ExpressVote") to mark an optical scan ballot, the voter shall touch the screen or use the tactile pad to select the name of the candidate of their choice for each office for which they intend to vote. To vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ballot, the voter shall type in the name of the person of their choice in the space provided for a write-in vote. On referendum questions, the voter shall touch the screen or use the tactile pad to select "yes" if in favor of the question, or the voter shall touch the screen or use the tactile pad to select "no" if opposed to the question.

Spoiling Ballots
If a voter spoils an optical scan ballot, they shall return it to an election official who shall issue another ballot in its place, but not more than three ballots shall be issued to any one voter. If the ballot has not been initialed by two inspectors or is defective in any other way, the voter shall return it to the election official, who shall issue a proper ballot in its place.

After Voting the Ballot
After an official optical scan ballot is marked, it may be inserted in the security sleeve, so the marks do not show. The voter shall insert the ballot in the voting device and discard the sleeve or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit. If a central count system is used, the voter shall insert the ballot in the ballot box and discard the sleeve or deliver the ballot to an inspector for deposit. The voter shall leave the polling place promptly.

Included with this notice is a sample of the official ballot.
